The workplace evaluation form is part of the portfolio that will be reviewed and discussed during the intake interview. A suitable workplace within the digital forensic field is a requirement to start with the part-time Master Digital Forensics at Leiden University of Applied Sciences (UAS) as it is a professional master with a focus on connecting theory and practice. A suitable work environment will help you better understand the theory and connect and apply this to current issues in your work environment.

We kindly ask you to answer the below questions to give us a better understanding of your work environment.

1. Please provide a brief description of your workplace:
2. Please provide a brief explanation of your position and daily tasks and responsibilities:
3. Please describe the digital forensic tools or technologies, used at your workplace (e.g., forensic imaging tools)
4. Are there any opportunities at your workplace for practical projects, internships, or research that could be integrated with the Master's program in Digital Forensics? Please describe briefly:
5. Did you enroll in the Master's program individually or in agreement with your employer?
